

Special regulations for professional drivers

Interested in working as a professional driver in Germany? That is also possible without formal training. Read more about it here.

  Visa & residence  Types of visa  Other types of visa
 Special regulations for professional drivers

On this page

-  How to become a professional driver in Germany
-  The right residence title for professional drivers
-  How to enter the country for qualification purposes
-  Long-term prospects for professional drivers

As a professional driver of heavy goods vehicles (HGV) or buses, you have good chances of finding a suitable job in Germany. You can find out whether you need a visa to enter the country or a residence permit for your stay in Germany in the “How do I apply for a visa?” section.

How to become a professional driver in Germany

- You must possess the necessary EU or EEA driving licence of class C1, C1E, C, CE, D1, D1E or DE and
- You must be able to provide evidence of your (accelerated) EU or EEA initial qualification to drive certain vehicles for the carriage of goods or passengers.

If you possess citizenship of an EU or EFTA member state, you may be employed in the fields of freight or passenger transport. You can look for suitable vacancies in the job listings.

The right residence title for professional drivers

If you do not have citizenship of an EU or an EFTA member state, but you still meet the conditions mentioned above, you can work as a professional driver if the Federal Employment Agency (BA) has approved the granting of the necessary residence title according to Section 19c \(1\) of the Residence Act \(AufenthG\) ↗ for this employment ([Section 24a \(1\) of the Ordinance on the Employment of Foreigners \[BeschV\]](#) ↗).

Approval by the Federal Employment Agency (BA)

Approval from the BA will be obtained during the visa process in an official internal procedure. As a rule, no action on your part is required.

If you are still in your country of origin, you can find out about how the visa process works or the conditions for entering the country.

Here you find an overview of how to secure your livelihood according to the purpose of stay.

How to enter the country for qualification purposes

If you do not possess either the necessary EU or EEA driving licence or the EU/EEA (accelerated) initial qualification, you can earn both by successfully completing qualification measures in Germany.

After having registered your place of residence in Germany, you must have your third-country driving licence converted to a German driving licence within six months.

Converting a foreign driving licence

If the issuing state of your foreign driving licence is not listed in the Annex 11 of the Regulations for the Licensing of Drivers \(FeV\) , this conversion requires you to pass both a theoretical and practical driving test. If the opposite is the case, the conversion will be done without you having to pass a test or the process will at least be facilitated.

While taking part in the qualification measures and having your licence converted, you may be employed by a company. Your employment will be approved by the BA if the following conditions, required by Section 24a \(2\) Ordinance on the Employment of Foreigners \(BeschV\) , are fulfilled:

- You have an employment contract which obliges you to take part in measures for obtaining the (accelerated) initial qualification and a German driving licence alongside your employment at the company. During this time, you are not permitted to work as a professional driver.
- The working conditions during the qualification measures are arranged such that you can obtain a German driving licence and the (accelerated) initial qualification within 15 months.
- After your EU or EEA driving licence has been granted and the initial qualification has been obtained, you have a concrete job offer for employment in the fields of freight transport (truck driver) or in the field of passenger transport with buses (bus driver) at the same employer.
- You already possess a foreign driving licence as a professional driver in your home country.

If you have already obtained the (accelerated) initial qualification during previous employment in another EU/EEA country or Switzerland and the qualification is still valid, you may also enter the country and work as a professional driver under certain conditions. You must then have your foreign driving licence converted in Germany within six months of entering the country. In order to know what documents have to be submitted during the visa procedure in this case, please contact the German mission abroad responsible for you.

If you are aged 45 or over, you must receive a certain gross annual salary for employment in Germany or be able to produce proof of a sufficient level of previously earned pension provision. In 2026, this minimum salary is 55,770 euros.

Long-term prospects for professional drivers

As long as your employment contract is valid, your residence permit can generally be extended. After five years of employment, you can apply for a permanent residence permit. The general regulations according to [Section 9 of the Residence Act \(AufenthG !\[\]\(dfbd6b3763a6d1d9afaa974f64e2e4b5_img.jpg\)](#)) apply.

Would you like to live in Germany with your family? This residence permit allows you to do so. You can read up on what you need to bear in mind and which conditions apply in the “Family reunification” section.

Information on the web

Federal Foreign Office (FFO)

You can find out which visa you need in order to come to Germany with the Visa-Navigator.

Federal Office for Migration and Refugees (BAMF)

Centre of Excellence for Asylum, Migration and Integration in Germany

Print page

