

Topics in the spotlight

Recruiting nursing professionals from abroad for the German labour market

28. December 2021 - The skills gap in nursing has been widening for years. The sector is increasingly recruiting nursing professionals from abroad, especially from non-EU countries. In our latest newsletter, we highlight the opportunities employers have and what they need to consider in the process.

more

Recruiting professionals from abroad: a step-by-step guide

30. September 2021 - Employers considering recruiting staff from abroad often face new challenges and questions: How to reach skilled workers abroad? Is a visa required? How can integration be ensured? This guide provides an overview of the most important steps in recruiting skilled workers from abroad.

more

International students in Germany: Prospects after graduation

02. July 2021 - International students at German universities represent an important potential pool of talent. Their advantage: Next to their professional qualifications, they are familiar with the cultural facets of Germany and the German language. It is also easy for them to enter working life, as international graduates have good opportunities for employment and staying in Germany.

more

Enabling Skilled Immigration through Recognition

24. March 2021 - The recognition of professional qualifications acquired abroad is of great importance for the integration into the German labour market. On the path to professional recognition, those seeking access to various options and a wide range of information and counselling centres to support them

more

Expand search field: Attracting skilled IT workers from abroad

10. December 2020 - Nearly every sector of the economy is nowadays ruled by digital applications and technologies. At the same time, there is a desperate need for specialists in the IT industry. Any companies that want to fill their job vacancies will therefore find that it is worth their while to look abroad: Conditions for attracting workers from abroad are particularly good.

more

The Skilled Immigration Act: opportunities for employers

22. September 2020 - The German Skilled Immigration Act gives all international qualified professionals the opportunity to carry on a profession or trade in Germany – provided that they offer particular qualifications. For employers, the new law brings greater options for recruiting urgently required international skilled professionals.

more

Central points of contact for the immigration of qualified professionals

03. July 2020 - To advise and accompany international qualified professionals on their way to Germany, there are numerous institutions and structures in Germany and abroad that offer support. The following list provides an overview of central and local points of contact in Germany and abroad responsible for the immigration of qualified professionals.

more

Make it in Germany - We will keep you up to date

02. April 2020 - The current corona crisis is affecting people all over the world and is also imposing restrictions on us. It is changing our everyday life, the way we deal with our fellow human beings, and our environment. For many visitors and users of "Make it in Germany", however, the current situation is a fact that career goals in Germany and very specific future plans cannot be realized for the time being. In uncertain times, we remain optimistic about future plans not falling apart but only needing to be put on hold. In the meantime, we continue to work and develop new offers for you.

more

Immigration from EU Member States

07. May 2019 - Large numbers of people from other regions of the world would like to live in Germany for different reasons. The latest data from the central register of foreign nationals (AZR) shows that the reasons for immigration to Germany are closely linked to the principle of free movement which applies within the European Union. It has been shown that Germany is the most popular immigration country in the EU.

more

The EU Blue Card in Germany – rising numbers and diverse opportunities

29. January 2019 - On 1 August 2012, the Federal Government introduced the EU Blue Card as a visa for highly qualified professionals from third countries wishing to live and work in Germany. Since it came into force in Germany, the number of Cards issued has risen year-on-year. In 2017 alone, 21,362 Cards were issued – up 25% on the previous year (2016: 17,362).

more

„Make it in Germany“ in new design: discover the official website for qualified professionals

08. November 2018 - The website provides qualified professionals with all the information they need and offers personally tailored advice about working, studying and living in Germany – all in one place. At the same time, employers can obtain support with looking for and recruiting the right specialists from abroad. The website also features applicant listings showing qualified professionals who are available to be placed immediately.

more

International students and scientists at German universities

24. July 2018 - When it comes to international students, universities in Germany are in demand. A figures, the number of international students in Germany from abroad rose in 2017 to just over 350,000. 265,484 of these students are among what are known in Germany as Bildungsausländer/Bildungsforeigners. This means that overall, the joint federal and Länder goal of attracting 350,000 foreign students to German universities by 2020 has already been met.

more

International skilled professionals in companies benefit both sides

17. April 2018 - There are some sectors in regions in Germany where a lack of qualified professional making itself felt. This skills gap is expected to widen as the population of Germany continues to a stage where a lack of qualified labour is the biggest commercial risk faced by our companies. Foreigners already finding it difficult to recruit the qualified professionals they need.

more

Recognition of professional qualifications acquired abroad

18. January 2018 - Germany is currently home to more than 12.7 million immigrants. A large proportion come to the country with a professional qualification that was acquired in their country of origin. As a condition for recognition, professionals have to see whether they can be recognised as equivalent to German ones is key for successful integration of professionals from abroad into the German labour market.

more

Immigration of skilled workers: The current situation in Germany

25. September 2017 - People come to Germany for various reasons. The large number of refugees has led to people wondering whether it still makes sense to recruit more skilled workers from abroad.

more
